

The CSDR Sports Program

"a proud accomplishment"

WARREN FAUTH
Director of Athletics

The California School for the Deaf is a member of the California Interscholastic Federation which makes and administers the rules of all high school athletic contests. As a member of the Federation CSDR must abide by rules and standards established for all high schools in the state. We must meet standards of eligibility, insurance coverage, use of officials, scheduling, and other aspects of the vast sports program in California. Our boys are classified according to standards of age, height, and weight so that they will compete only with those of a similar classification. These classifications are varsity or A, B, and C. We use C classification only in our track program.

CSDR is classified as a small school in football and in all other sports as a "A" school. These classifications are based on the size of the school so that competition will be limited to schools of nearly the same size.

The Arrowhead League of which CSDR is a member is a small school league. It is composed of eight schools.

School	Location	No. of Students
Aquinas	San Bernardino	*520
Big Bear	Big Bear	420
Boys Republic	Chino	*320
C.S.D.R.	Riverside	179
Norco H.S.	Norco	915
Notre Dame	Riverside	*540
Ontario H.S.	Ontario	800
Webb School	Claremont	*400

* C.I.F. doubles the enrollment of all boy schools to determine the size classification of the school.

According to League rules all schools must participate in the four major sports: football, basketball, baseball, and track. In addition, this year six of the schools are competing in wrestling.

In football and basketball each school has a varsity and a B team. In track there are varsity, B and C teams.

The policies and regulations of the Arrowhead League are determined by the Administrative Council which consists of an administrator from each of the schools. The policies of the league are carried out by the athletic directors and coaches of the league in their meetings of the Athletic Council. Each year the school winning a particular sport receives the perpetual trophy for that sport. In addition they receive a small permanent trophy for their trophy case. An all-league selection of outstanding players is made each year by the athletic Council and boys named to this honor receive a certificate. Individual medals are given to the boys who place first, second, or third in the league meet and ribbons are given for fourth and fifth places.

CSDR has been a member of the Arrowhead League since the 1956-57 school year. We have tried to participate and cooperate in every way with league activities. Through the years there has been a gradual expansion with new schools entering the league and an expanded program. There have been many difficulties because of our small size and length of our school day, our holidays and the fact that we are a residential school, but through it all CSDR has managed to compete and compete well. We have an excellent record in track and do fairly well in football and basketball. Our weakest area has always been baseball but even there we give other teams good competition. We hope that our school is considered by the league not only as a tough competitor but as a school that shows good sportsmanship, school spirit, and pride in their team. Our good record must reflect the ability and enthusiasm of our students and the training of the coaching staff.

In addition to our regular league schedule, we play Arizona School for the Deaf and the California School for the Deaf at Berkeley every year in basketball.

Our girls also are active in sports. Each year they have entered the Riverside City Recreation Volleyball League and in play in that league have a fantastic record of championships on both the high school and junior

Now Hear This ...

Insurance is a wonderful thing if you can afford it. Ask any insurance company and they will tell you that you can't afford to be without it. As parents you are responsible for the well-being of your children, both while they are here and at home. Do you all have enough money in the bank to cover medical and hospital bills if your child should sustain an injury? Here at CSDR we feel that every boy and girl should be covered by accident insurance. At this writing some 60% of our student enrollment has been signed up for accident insurance which covers the pupil all of the time he is under our supervision both night and day. This coverage also includes all intramural and interschool athletics other than football.

To the parent insurance is just one more thing a person has to pay for protection. I think sometimes that parents believe we sit up nights trying to figure new ways to spend their money. In this instance, however, not only is your child protected if he should get hurt but valuable time is saved in clerical work and administration. From the standpoint of our school, we are concerned with all interschool athletics and each student must have insurance to participate. Each child must be processed and cleared before participating. A further point to consider is that anyone traveling with a team must be covered so that it is fast becoming necessary for everyone who wants to be a part of an activity to be insured. Students in intramural activities or physical education classes are not required by law to have insurance; however, the chance of injury is almost as great as in organized athletics. We feel for your protection that your child should have accident insurance. Think about it, it could save you a lot of money.

high school levels. We have also instituted a track program for girls and have done very well on both interscholastic and intercity competition. Our girls also compete with Arizona and Berkeley in volleyball each year.

Sports is an area where our students can and do compete very well with hearing boys and girls. We are proud of our accomplishments and hope to have another successful sports year in 1967-1968.

"The Way I See It"

Senator Gordon Cologne

June 12, 1967

At this time of the year when thoughts are turned to the graduate, I'd like to take a moment to tell you of an intensely interesting graduation ceremony I attended last week. I was privileged to deliver the commencement address at the California School for the Deaf at Riverside.

This school is one of two tax supported schools in our state offering specialized training for the deaf. Residence facilities are provided for some 500 children, ages 5½ to 21, who come from various school districts throughout the state. The curriculum is similar to that found in public schools but with additional specialized instruction in lip reading as well as finger spelling.

The school offers its graduates the opportunity to qualify for admission to Gallaudet College, Washington, D.C., and a vocationally oriented junior college curriculum offered at Riverside City College. While vocational training is an important part of the studies, it was interesting for me to learn that 16 of the 24 graduates contemplate going on to college. Few high schools can match that record.

The state spent about $4100 per student last year and it is interesting to note that it spent about the same amount on the "potential drop-outs" but with far, far less success.

When you compare how eagerly these students seek an education with the lack of interest shown by the average young person at the conservation camp at Oak Glen, you realize the value some people place on every opportunity afforded.

Last year the federal government provided a special grant of $131,022 to conduct a pilot program with "seriously emotionally disturbed deaf children" and the reports I have received are that the program has proved most successful. It's not difficult to understand why a child would be emotionally upset living in a world of silence and to see their response to understanding and individual attention is most heartening. This program, as well as all the training at the school, has been marked with outstanding success.

Some of the students who have faint hearing or who lost their hearing after they learned to talk, speak every bit as well as you and I. Because they cannot hear, of course, most of these young people have difficulty developing their speech the way we do. From this point on these young people do not differ from any other high school graduating class in California, except that they may be better. They have the charm, vibrance, and enthusiasm of our most outstanding high school graduates. One advantage they may have is that they are not addicted to this modern day drag sometimes facetiously called music.

My speech was relayed to the students by finger spelling with such ease and speed that I kept a normal pace of conversation. Their expression and laughter at my jokes convinced me of their acute awareness of my every word.

It is the very outstanding work of the warm and dedicated, and I really mean dedicated, group of teachers, supervisors, counselors, and other personnel who are the real inspiration. I'm particularly proud of their labors of love and am grateful to be a part of the program, though from a distance.

If you ever begin to think life is just a little more than you think you can bear, or that you missed your share of good luck, visit the California School for the Deaf in Riverside and see how these young people look at life. When you talk about trouble, it might be well to take a tip from them and turn a deaf ear to it.

From a newsletter published by Riverside County newspapers.

An Airplane Ride

One day in June my father and I went on a trip to Massachusetts. We took an airplane from Los Angeles. It was fun on the plane. We had something to eat. I read some books, played a game and took pictures. When the airplane arrived at the airport in Massachusetts it was raining. My aunt, uncle and cousins were waiting for us. They greeted us. Then we drove to Grandmother's house. We stayed with her for one week. Then Father and I flew back to California. I enjoyed the trip very much.

BOOK REPORTS

High School —

TITLE: The Man

AUTHOR: Irving Wallace

The U.S. Cabinet met in the White House to listen to what President T.C. had to say by two-way radio from France. The Vice-President had just died from sickness 10 days before. T.C. said he wanted to settle the serious problems between an African nation and Russia. Suddenly the radio fell silent. The Cabinet tried to contact him again, but failed. In a few minutes the phone rang and it was announced that T. C. has just died in the collapse of a building. The Speaker of the House has been in the same building and would undergo surgery the next day.

The next day the Speaker of the House died on the operating table. The Cabinet realized that the successor to T. C. has to be someone else. After checking the Constitution, they found that the successor to the Vice-President in presiding over the Senate would be next in line to become the U.S. president. He was Senator Douglas Dilman, a Negro!

Senator Dilman became the first Negro president. He felt high pressure against him as the successor to the popular ex-President T.C. Polls showed that his popularity was the lowest in U.S. history—24% of the people were satisfied, 61% weren't, and 15% were undecided.

The Cabinet tried to control President Dilman's executive powers without letting him know it, but he discovered that in a short time and fired one of them. The man insisted that the President had broken the law in firing him, without the consent of Congress.

A group of representatives proposed the impeachment of President Dilman in the House. It was overwhelmingly passed. Now the President had to be tried in the Senate. The reasons given for impeachment were: 1) He had passed top secrets to Russia through his longtime girl friend; 2) He hadn't punished an organization which was suspected of starting riots until after it had cost the life of a judge; 3) He had done bodily harm to his secretary, Sally Watson, Senator Watson's daughter; 4) He was an alcoholic. His lawyer argued that he wasn't guilty of any of these articles against him.

President Dilman decided to visit the ex-President to seek his advice. He told Douglas to be bold and fight against the odds. Douglas listened and took his advice.

A straw vote showed that 80 votes were against Douglas and 20 favored him. That's 13 more votes than necessary for impeachment. A few days before the voting Dilman ordered the U.S. Army to prevent the Russians from invading a small African nation. It was the right decision and probably won him a few votes. When the senators began to vote the predicted results seemed to be coming true but at the end he was one vote short of being impeached. The polls now revealed that his popularity had increased—35% favored him, 26% were against him, and 39% were uncertain.

His first day after the trial in the Senate was another hard day for President Douglas Dilman as he began his paperwork.

Robert Peary—The Boy of the North

Elesta Clark

This story tells about the life of Robert Peary, the first man to touch the North Pole.

When he was a little boy he always looked for adventure in high places. He got lost one time in the forest and followed a creek to safety. He used to climb tall trees just to see a hawk's nest or lead his gang on an island to explore what was on it. When he became a man he was called to Washington, D.C. In May 1886, he set out in the "Eagle," a whaling boat. He explored Greenland and discovered many bays and harbors in the Far North.

Peary spent 16 years trying to reach the North Pole. Finally in May of 1908 he left with his men on the schooner Roosevelt. They went as far as they could go until the ice stopped them. Then they went on by dog sled. Peary planted the American Flag on the North Pole in February, 1909.

I like this book because it is a biography. People who like biographies will enjoy it.

Through the benefit of experiences gained during last year's Summer School program the 1967 session was somewhat revised in order to meet the additional needs and desires of the students.

The curriculum was expanded through the introduction of a number of new subjects such as astronomy and navigation. These additional subjects were made possible by revising the schedule of a few classes so that they would have double the number of academic periods that were available to them last year.

The major portion of the academic program was devoted to reading, language, and mathematics. As was done in last year's session, much of the work was based on self improvement and enrichment. In some instances provisions were made for students to remain in the same class grouping as during the regular school year and thus were able to benefit from a slightly accelerated program.

Of the 105 pupils who enrolled nine of them were June graduates who will be attending Gallaudet College this fall. They did advanced work in the areas of language arts, algebra and geometry.

In general, the students applied themselves diligently to their class work and the members of the staff felt that the program was again worthwhile.

Free Time Activities

During the second summer school session at CSDR several new free time activities were introduced to the program. Among them were a picnic at Fairmount Park, a treasure hunt on the school campus, and a surprise trip to the roller derby in San Bernardino.

Also available for the first time this year was a six-week charm course offered to the girls and a weekly tournament night for the boys. The charm course was offered on Tuesday evenings and was taught by Mrs. Lynda Haines of John Robert Powers School of Modeling. During the six-week course, Mrs. Haines gave the girls pointers on make-up, poise and good grooming. To mark the climax of the course, the girls modeled in a fashion show and demonstrated what they had learned.

While the girls attended the charm course, the boys had the opportunity to participate in the Tuesday evening tournament nights where teams competed in softball and water polo.

In addition to these new activities, the students again had the opportunity to attend three professional baseball games, and to participate in a watermelon bust, a talent show, a roller skating party, and weekly movies. And again, as last year, our largest and best attended event was the luau which took place in the pool area. The 200 students and guests who were present enjoyed authentic Polynesian foods prepared by our kitchen staff, and had the pleasure of watching professional Polynesian entertainers.

The Recreational directors and the counseling staff felt that the 1967 summer school free-time activities provided many wholesome social opportunities for the students and that each student enjoyed them and profited from them in many ways.

Math

There were nine students in the college group and all except one needed strengthening in the fundamentals of elementary algebra. The lone exception moved along at his own pace studying modern geometry. The rest of the class studied parts of the Book 3 edition of Exploring Modern Mathematics. Because they had previous experience with modern mathematics they were able to cover in 6-week a great deal of what is offered in a one year course of elementary algebra.

The National Council of Teachers of Mathematics has published a series of booklets with the overall title of "Experience in Mathematical Discovery." Professor Emil J. Berger, the chairman of this pamphlet project was at Gallaudet College during the summer course in mathematics sponsored by the National Science Foundation. Mr. Newman, teacher of mathematics in the high school department, studied under Professor Berger and used two of the booklets for one of his classes. One of the booklets was entitled "Mathematical Sentences." It helped the students gain understanding and insight when it came to number sentences and the solution set of algebraic equations. The other booklet was entitled "Geometry" and it was a good preparation for the students who will later on study geometry in depth.

Class was conducted in seminar fashion and the students had a good opportunity to study, discuss, and argue over such topics as geometric properties, mathematical models of physical space, points, straight lines, and planes, circles, angles and polygons. The students really learned to read directions and to think carefully before offering opinions.

Art

The summer school art program saw 24 boys and girls hard at work through a tough schedule week by week. Basic forms, analysis, composition, adaptation and originality were particularly stressed. Some exceptionally fine work resulted in portrait and figure sketching and oil paintings. A daily dose of Art Appreciation instilled an incentive to look up and recognize famous paintings and for individual visits to art galleries and museums.

Several of the boys specialized in drafting and blueprint reading.

Electric Shop

During this summer session, the work being done in the electric shop was basically concerned and oriented toward the study of related materials. Normally, during the regular school year, the students are working primarily in electronic assembly. During this summer session they have been studying some of the basic theory and principles of electricity.

An attempt was made to develop the concepts in such a way so as to give each student an opportunity to observe and test each principle through the use of meters and other electrical apparatus. Whenever possible, the students made models that demonstrated various principles.

Some of the major concepts covered during this summer session were: The electron theory, magnetism, alternating and direct currents, magnetic induction, various principles dealing with Ohm's Law, simple circuits, and the production of static and current electricity.

The following items were written by students in summer school

I Love You

What is that look for?
Wait ! It is something new !
I have never seen that look on your face!
Your face makes me so happy.
What is it ?
It says something new.
It is not so difficult to say.
Just say, "I love you."

Ralph Gibbins

Write a Poem ?

Write a poem? Why me?
I can't write any poem.
Hal What a poet I would be!
Who would call me another Poel
I am just a plain lazy boy
Who loves sleeping—not thinking.
I hate poems! Destroy them! Destroy!
Poems "malinfluence" our thinking!
(prefix: mal means badly)

Back to School

I remember one summer day,
I swam in the beach, cool and gay.
I remember one day in July,
I went to the Fair, fun ran high.
All of sudden I saw a leaf falling.
My summer fun was doomed
and palling.
My mind was filled with memories gay.
Now I had to go back to a humdrum school day.

Sharon Nunn

Bravery in Battle

A brave man fought in the battle
And showed his loyalty by offering his life.
That man ran and heard the rattle
Of the foe's great guns during the fierce strife.
He fell from a shot through his heart
And his country's heart was filled with deep grief.
He deserved a medal for his heart
Which he gave to support his strong belief.

Mike Trexler

Editor's note:

The following paragraphs were the descriptions of the abstract words indicated in the titles.

Fear

Fear is an uncomfortable feeling which everyone dislikes. Everyone has this uneasy feeling at some time. So, this means that you are not the only one to have it. It is when something dangerous or unwanted has appeared. It causes your heart to pound faster and sometimes makes you scream for help. Fear is the feeling you have when you meet a man with a deadly weapon in his hand. Fear is the feeling you have when you leave your mother's arms. Fear is the feeling you have when you are facing the heat and going to die.

Jeff Lenham

Sorrow

Sorry is an emotion of sadness, suffering, grief, regret, trouble or misfortune. It is expressed when one loses his love, friend, luck, respect, or is hurt by others. One's face may show tears, unhappiness, or he may feel gloomy or mournful. His face becomes like a mask when he becomes sorrowful. The lines on his face will curve downward to make it look like a bloodhound. Too much sorrow may ruin one's looks when he grows older. Sorrow is a feeling that we can't forget right away but it will gradually fade away. Sorrowful people often want to be alone or they may want to be embraced or comforted by others.

Ellen Thielman

Editor's note:

The following paragraph is a description of an abstract painting done by a Riverside artist.

Bloody and Deadly War

That number two picture is an original which was painted by Mrs. McGarry's friend, Tom Hadley. It was brought here to build up our thinking, reasoning, and feeling of what it means to us. It is an abstract picture consisting of many different kinds of colors.

In the picture I can see a war including the brave soldiers who fight and die for their country. The red represents blood; the black is for death. Some other colors stand for the color of the soldiers' clothes, and the land on which they fight. I can tell by that picture that the soldiers fight day and night because the yellow stands for the sun. The soldiers are suffering and sorrowful.

Steve A. Turner

The Summer School Luau

Mr. Campbell and the counselors invited us to a luau in the swimming pool area one night.

Judy Goldsberry, Becky Fogarty, Kathy Carlsen and I welcomed the guests in Hawaiian style by putting leis around the guests' necks and giving them a kiss.

We sat around the pool and ate on beautifully decorated mats. After dinner there was a program by some wonderful Hawaiian dancers. We all had a wonderful time at the luau. The decorations were lovely, the Hawaiian dinner was delicious and the dancers fantastic! !

Arlene Marsh

Last night I dreamed I was a bird.

I was an eagle. I saw a man walking through the mountains. The man looked and looked all around, like a bad western cowboy. Then the man looked up at the mountains. I was bald. He thought I was a Yeti. The man tried to climb the mountain. He was slow because he was tired. He found out I was an eagle. I lived high in the mountains. The man was afraid because I could swoop down and look for animals and people, too. He was nervous. But he had a 45-Colt. He could draw quickly and he was a good shot. Now, the man pointed the gun at me. He missed, because I flew straight at him. I cut off his head with my sharp claws. I was still King of the Sky!

John Michael Barber

Astronomy

It was the first time in the history of our school that we have had astronomy during our summer school. Mr. Menson, who was our teacher, taught it. It was a very interesting subject. He gave us the general ideas and also theoretical ideas about the origin of the universe so the students could imagine what the universe looks like and also how it appears to the eye. We also studied about the planets, stars, comets, nebulae, and other heavenly bodies.

Mr. Rahmlow let us borrow his reflector telescope and I brought my refractor telescope to school so we could see the moon, stars and planets each Monday night. It was thrilling and exciting because most of the students never saw them with a telescope. And also, some of us looked at the sun with my telescope, but there were no sunspots at the time. Anyway we enjoyed seeing the sun's photosphere.

We also studied summer constellations of the northern hemisphere and assembled a small 8x refracting telescope.

Scott Kramer

Griffith Park Observatory

On July 19, 1967 about forty students went with Mr. Menson to the Griffith Park Observatory.

At the center of the lawn were the statues of famous astronomers and a sundial.

When we entered the observatory we could see the Foucault Pendulum swinging in the pit in the floor. The pendulum helps show that the earth rotates.

The student went on their own to observe the meteors and different rocks and elements on display. Also on display were scientific instruments, pictures of celestial bodies in space, models of historic telescopes, and many other things.

Some students went to the planetarium show. Some used the special scales, which told their weight on earth, Mars, Jupiter and the moon.

We observed the sun's surface and its spectrum through special equipment.

We had a very interesting and out-of-this world time.

Carolyn Stem

Our Opinions About Sports

Boxing

Many fighters have died from injuries they received in the ring. As a result some people feel that boxing should be outlawed. Do you?

Yes, I feel that boxing should be outlawed because the fighters are not fighting for a worthy cause.

Heddy Udkovich

No, I don't think that boxing should be outlawed. It is very thrilling to watch a boxing match. I am always curious as to who will win the match.

Robert Burns

Yes, I think boxing should be outlawed. This sport is not safe and many times it causes brain damage and fighters even die from their injuries.

Lorin Melander

No, I don't think boxing should be outlawed because it is a kind of sport.

Rick Garbacz

No, I don't think that boxing should be outlawed because most people want to know who is the world champion.

Brooks Harryman

Yes, I feel that boxing should be outlawed because many fighters have died from the injuries that they received in the ring.

Chris Buchholz

Yes, I think that boxing should be outlawed because I don't like men to die from boxing and fighting. I want people to be safe in sports.

Judith Blair

Sorry, I don't know enough about boxing to give my opinion.

Jr. National Association of the Deaf

The first Junior National Association of the Deaf meeting of 1967-68 was held in the Social Hall on September 24, 1967, at 7:35.

The new officers introduced themselves to the members.

Mr. Barber, one of our two Jr. NAD sponsors, gave an interesting talk. He told us that last summer while he was at Gallaudet College for summer school study, he attended a meeting concerning the Jr. NAD. He was quite impressed with the Gallaudet preps who have worked diligently for the improvement of the Jr. NAD and who showed great potential to be future leaders. For instance, the preps had made the plans to bring the bloodmobile to the Gallaudet campus so that everyone would have a chance to donate blood. Mr. Barber told us that the Gallaudet College preps had also raised funds to pay for the round trip from Arizona to Washington, D.C., for Mr. Sanderson, our NAD president.

After Mr. Barber's talk, Mr. Newman, who is also our Jr. NAD sponsor, explained to us how important the Jr. NAD is to our future. The Jr. NAD is supposed to develop our leadership qualities and help us think of others. It aims to bring us into contact with successful deaf adults who are invited to give talks at our school. The meeting adjourned at 8:35.

Track Season — 1967

For the eighth year in a row CSDR won Arrowhead Varsity Track meet and came in second in both the "B" and "C" classifications. Several league records were set by our boys. Greg Wilson ran the 120 yard high hurdles in 15.2 and Danny Cisneros set a new record in the 2 mile run with a time of 10:51.7. Both of these times also established new school records. Mike Barber tied the 100 yard dash school record held by Jerry Moore of 10.1. Bill Gipple set a "B" school record in the 100 yard dash with a time of 10.3. Ambrose Purifoy broke several records in the "C" division with a 10.7 in the 100 yard dash and 19.4 in the 180 yard dash. Fred Gravatt shaved 2 seconds off the 660 run record with a 1:34.8 breaking the old record of 1:36.8. The C-440 relay team composed of Purifoy, Gravatt, Turner, and Cruz set a new record of 49.6.

Our team was ranked 3rd in teams for the deaf in the U.S. this year and because of the good showing by our "B" and "C" teams this year our chances for next year are excellent.

Boys who did well this year are: VARSITY, Dan Cisneros, Greg Wilson, John Wilson, Tom Green, Mike Barber, Fernando Zaldivar; "B" Mike Rojas, Gorman Low, Bill Gipple, Scott Kramer, Bruce Brewster, Manfred Krick; "C" Ambrose Purifoy, Fred Gravatt, Steve Turner.

The standings in the Arrowhead League Meet were:

CSDR Wins Big Game

Notre Dame High School hosted CSDR in their homecoming game at the UCR field. They were heavily favored to win this game. Halfback Zaldivar ran 60 yards for a touchdown in the first quarter. In the second quarter Zaldivar ran 40 yards for the second touchdown.

Both teams were held scoreless in the third quarter but in the fourth quarter Low made an almost impossible, sensational, over-the-head catch. We were amazed but the Notre Dame fans were awed! This catch was good for 36 yards and a touchdown. Later fullback Vincent dived 2 yards for the final touchdown. The score was 25 to 0. This game proved that the ballyhooed Notre Dame team was overrated.

The duel between the top runners, Notre Dame's Dave Foster, and our Zaldivar was won by Zaldivar as he ran 258 yards in 29 carries. Dave carried 20 times for only 99 yards.

Game with Eagle Mountain

CSDR opened the football season with a game at Eagle Mountain. In the first three quarters they were ahead by only 5 points, 12 to 7. Eagle Mt. took an early lead in the first half by a score of 12-0. In the third quarter the Cubs scored quickly and got back into the game by making the conversion which made the score 12-7. Gorman Low intercepted a pass and ran 88 yards for a touchdown but the play was called back because of a holding penalty against CSDR. In the last eight minutes of the fourth quarter Eagle Mountain scored 20 points against our played-out boys.

Our Fishing Trip

Grandfather, Father and I went fishing at Salton Sea. We took a camper We drove from 9:00 to 12:15. After we ate lunch, we went out in a boat and fished. We caught many fish.

We ate dinner in a restaurant. Grandfather and Father played cards and I watched television. We went to bed at 11:45.

The next morning we went fishing again. We caught many, many fish. We ate lunch and then we went home and put our fish in the freezer.

The Caterpillars

Miss Loughran gave Miss Ohlinger two caterpillars. Miss Ohlinger showed them to us.

One caterpillar was very lazy. It crawled very slowly and then lay curled up for a very long time.

I cleaned the jar and put fresh leaves and a stick in it. We hope the caterpillars will become pupas. Then we hope the pupas will become butterflies in about ten days

I went to karate school last summer. I learned to do both judo and karate. I liked it. I still go there every Saturday. I have a black belt at home. Robert Hickel

A Trip to Hearst Castle

About a month ago my family and I went to San Simeon to see Hearst Castle. The castle is beautiful and very big. It has two pools. One is inside the castle and the other is outside. I saw many ivy-covered statues. My family and I walked around for about an hour and a half. I saw a beautiful bed in the castle. I saw a huge dictionary on a table. There is a large dining room. There were twelve tall candlesticks on the table. Hearst Castle is an interesting place.

My Best Fourth of July

The best Fourth of July that I ever had was when we were in Washington, D. C. three years ago. My family and I just sat on the grass facing the tall, famous Washington Monument. Suddenly, out of the night sky, we felt like we were broken into pieces by the horrifying noises! The fireworks had started! They were beautiful and very colorful in the pitch-black sky. We all really enjoyed the fireworks—especially Dad!

Wanda Witzak

Our Surprise Nite

On July 6 all the boys and girls attending summer school wondered where we would go on "Surprise Night." We got on the bus, but we didn't know where we were going. At last, we arrived in San Bernardino. We were at the Roller Derby Races! If people go in to see the races before 7:30 p.m. they can get in free, but if they go in after 7:30 they have to pay. We arrived at 7 o'clock. We watched the Devils vs the T-Birds. Most of us supported the T-Birds. The Devils were terrible. They were mean and fought all the time. They often pretended to be hurt, but they were really not hurt. The Devils were ahead of the T-Birds until the last minute when the T-Birds beat the Devils. The T-Birds won, 123 to 118. It was exciting! We enjoyed our "Surprise Night" very much!

Becky Fogarty

Navigation

1. The difference between a nautical mile and a statute mile is the number of feet equal to one mile. The nautical mile is equal to 6080 feet and the statute mile is equal to 5280 feet.

2. Using a nautical mile is a quicker way to find out how many miles in each degree at the equator and is very useful in navigation.

Ellen Thielman

My Favorite Movie

"Dr. Zhivago" was a very excellent movie. It was about a Russian man who was married to a woman and then he fell in love with another woman.

The movie was adapted from an historical novel written by Boris Pasternak. He won a Nobel Prize, but the Russian government told him that if he went to Sweden to accept the prize, he couldn't come back to Russia to live, so he didn't get the prize.

Hedy Udkovich

My Favorite Movie

"Gone with the Wind" is still my favorite movie. It won the best picture of the year award in 1939. It is the most popular classic movie. It tells the story of the love between Scarlett O'Hara, and Rhett Butler in the southern states during the Civil War.

Thomas N. Green, Jr.

The Angels Against Boston

All of us summer school students went to Anaheim Stadium three times to the baseball games. We enjoyed the games very much. The most exciting game, in my opinion, was when the Angels beat Boston in the last inning! The score was 4 to 3. It was a close game!

Ronald Kachachian

A Close Shave

One day when Mrs. Quinn was a little girl, her family went fishing. Her father told the family to take a short cut to the lake by walking on a railroad bridge. They had trouble with Mrs. Quinn, because she was afraid to walk across on the railroad ties. Suddenly, they heard a train coming. Her father yelled and told her mother to hurry. Her father jumped off the bridge. He caught her little brother when he jumped. Mrs. Quinn was afraid to jump so her mother pushed her off and her father caught her. Her mother jumped off just as the train came by. They had a close shave. Her father was frightened. He'd learned a lesson and never walked on a railroad bridge again.
